Foreword

IN PREPARING the History of the Haines Family we have carefully followed a book compiled by Francis Cregar and published in 1887, which we know to be authentic.

This book was transcribed by the students of the Marion Business College of Marion, Indiana, in order to preserve it for this branch of the Haines Family, who are lineal descendents of Richard and Margaret Haines of Aynhoe-on-the-Hill, in the County of Northampton, England.

The balance of the book has been brought up to date by Sarah Ellen Haines Wilson and we have made an earnest effort to include every member of our family.

It is our purpose to present a copy of the book to each one of the grandchildren of Job Haines and Sarah Elizabeth Haines.

We wish to apologize for the quality of the printing, but it was necessary, in order to keep down the cost of the books, to do the typesetting in spare time, to have printing done on a proof press, and to do the binding by hand. We have printed only twenty copies, so we hope you will keep your book and hand it down to the on-coming generations, that they, too, may enjoy it.

This has been a big undertaking, but we have enjoyed it and we hope you will accept it, not for the quality of the book, but for the information which you may obtain from it.

ROBERT LEMOYNE HAINES.

THE HISTORY of the HAINES FAMILY

CHAPTER I

The history of the Haines family can be traced to a period antedating the time of William the Conqueror.

Richard Haines, of Aynhoe-on-the-Hill, in the County of Northampton, England, as shown in a deed of 1682, was descended from an ancient family of Haynes residing in that locality, which had made illustrious marriage connections but had increased so rapidly in numbers that all of its members do not, at this date (1887) occupy the high estate of their ancestors. In the marriage certificate of his widow (Margaret) and his son John, the name was spelled Haynes, but the form was shortly changed to Haines, and has been adhered to since by the family in this country.

Richard Haines became a member of the Society of Friends some time prior to the 4th mo. (June) 18, 1676, O. S.,* when the birth of a daughter (Mary) was recorded at the Banbury Monthly Meeting and 5th mo. (July) 5th, 1679—O. S., signed the certificate of removal of his neighbor, John Borton, who with his family emigrated to Burlington County, in the province of West New Jersey†. His eldest son, John, either accompanied or followed the Burton family to West New Jersey, settling in Evesham Township, Burlington County, and afterwards married John Borton's daughter Esther.

Richard Haines received such favorable account of the Province from his son that he decided to join him, and in April, 1682, went to Gravesend with his wife and children, embarking on the ship "Amity," Richard Diamond, Master, which set sail from the Downs on the 23rd of April.‡

Before leaving England he obtained from Edward Bylling two grants for one hundred acres in West New Jersey. The deeds now in possession of one of descendants** were dated April 20th and 21st, †Richard Haines belonged to an Oxfordshire Monthly Meeting, and Aynhoe is situate on the borders of Northamptonshire, being partly in the County of Oxford.

‡John Haines, of Fostertown, N. J., a grandson of Richard, Jr., the son of Richard and Margaret, had often conversed with his great uncles, Thomas William, and Joseph Haines, younger sons of the said Richard and Margaret, from whom he obtained a history of the Haines family's settlement in New Jersey, which he communicated to the late Joseph Haines, who committed the same to writing. The latter's son, George Haines, Esquire, of Medford, N. J., has kindly allowed the compiler to make a copy, from which the following has been condensed: John Haines, the eldest of five brothers, came first to New Jersey, settling in Evesham Township, Burlington County, from which he sent for the father, mother, sister, and brothers, Richard, Thomas, and William, who accordingly embarked for the New World, the father dying, and his youngest child, Joseph, who afterwards settled in Maryland, being born during the voyage; the widow, with her children, reaching New Jersey in safety before Penn's arrival in Pennsylvania.

Richard Haines of Evesham Township, Burlington County, New Jersey, second son of Richard and Margaret, came over with his parents in the "Amity," and settled near his elder brother, in Evesham Township, where he died at an advanced age in 1746, his will being proved April 22nd of that year, and dated Dec. 13th, 1744. I. John Hollingshead, Sr., of Burlington, New Jersey, merchant, a member of the Society of Friends, arrived in New Jersey, in a ship from London, some time during the year 1678, and settled near Salem, but did not remain there long, as in 1682 he was living in the neighborhood of Rancocas,* from whence he removed to the town of Burlington, where he d. in the latter part of the year 1699, his will being dated September 20, and proved February 22, 1699, O. Soon after, at the house of Thomas Eves, he saw a buck: and telling Eves, he set his dogs, who followed it to Rankokas River, then frozen: the buck "running on the ice, slid upon his side; the dogs seized it; Hollingshead jumping upon it, the buck rose with him on his back and sprang forward, his feet spreading asunder, step'd gently down on his belly, and gave Hollingshead a respite from danger, and opportunity of killing him: By these means "two families were supplied with food to their great joy."††

CHAPTER VIII

YARD FAMILY

Some extracts from a work entitled The Worthies of Devon, probably in the handwriting of Mr. Joseph Yard, who visited England after the close of the War of Independence,* show that the Yards accompanied William the Conqueror into England and established themselves at Yard, near Marlborough, in the County of Devon. "One proof of the antiquity of the family is that there has issued nineteen or twenty generations in the direct line, whose fruit is also seen in many fine spreading branches it has yielded at Bradley, Trushur, Whitney, and Exeter." Their arms, as given above, have been used by the American family as of right belonging to them, being engraved on an old seal, which is said to have been brought to this country two hundred years ago, and is now in the possession of Edward S. Yard, Esq., of Trenton, a retired officer of the United States Navy, to whom the compiler is indebted for this account of the English family of Yard.

Joseph Yard, with his wife and children and younger brother, William, of whom hereafter, came from the neighborhood of Exeter, in Devonshire, and settled at Philadelphia some time prior to Aug. 4, 1687, O. S., when he purchased a lot of ground on Third Street. He d. in May, 1716, O. J., and d. without issue in 1732; John, living in 1620; George, of Philadelphia, d. in 1758, leaving issue;** Benjamin, had issue; James, styled "Mariner," in 1720; Elizabeth, m. ——— Fox.†

I. William Yard, of Trenton, New Jersey, came from the neighborhood of Exeter, Devonshire, and with his elder brother, Joseph, settled in Philadelphia, remaining at that place until about the year 1710,‡ when he removed to what is now the city of Trenton. In 1712 he purchased two acres of land on Second (now State) Street, extend-residence on Front Street: was afterward a purchaser of other large portions of land, so that when a name was to be given to the town it was a question for a time whether it should be Yard's-town or Trent's-town. Mr. Yard was prominent in the affairs of the town, a zealous ing to Assinpink, and between Green and Warren streets: building his supporter of the Presbyterian Church** and died in 1745, his will being proved July 4 of that year, and dated February 12, 1742-3, O.
